

*Workshops
bringing literature
alive for children*

Amanda Cooper, Director of Gallery For A Day

Amanda has been a teacher for many years specialising in Music, Library and Art. Amanda is a collector of original artwork from picture books. Gallery for a Day is a travelling exhibition of original illustrations from many well-known Australian picture books. Illustrations from the collection form the basis of an engaging, interactive incursion for primary aged students. Amanda loves to share her passion for picture books, their illustrations and the creative process involved in their making.

